June Editorial

We would like to welcome the new Parish Councillors to their roles on the Council and to give a heartfelt thanks to Angus Neish for his length of service as Chairman of the Council. Much work is undergone unnoticed by the parish in order to keep the maintenance of our surroundings up to standard and it is only by long service dedication that this is achieved.

Thank you to all those involved in doing this community work.

Church News

It's 'all change' at All Saints now that the vicar is taking up a new post. We said goodbye to her on May 16th and sent her on her way with our blessings, a lovely wooden fruit bowl from Pete Dean and a garden voucher to help with her new garden.

Without a vicar of our own we will be having visiting priests and speakers take some of the services. Please come along and make them welcome. I have added the names of those taking the services to the diary. We are still not allowed to sing in church but if the weather is fine, we might meet outside where singing is allowed. I have recently heard that up to six people can now sit together in church even if they are not in the same 'bubble.'

I read recently "in a single day in summer, one acre of wildflower meadow can contain 3 million flowers, producing 1 kg of nectar sugar. That's enough to support nearly 96,000 honey bees per day."

What a thought! So I want to congratulate all those who have valiantly resisted mowing their grass until now, and it is great to see the areas around the magnificent daffodils being carefully mown around.

Here are some of the flowers that I photographed in Shirley Dean's garden on the High Street in the second week of May. Just by leaving it un-mown regularly until later in the year she has at least 9 species of wildflower thriving there. I make no apology for another flower quiz, the only worry is that they are too easy!

Good news! The Plant, Cakes & Nearly New Sale is going ahead at the Village Hall on 27th of June at 2pm! I hope some of you have some plants coming along ready for the sale.

So now we need to collect all those useful items to recycle into their new homes.

What we are looking for is GOOD QUALITY nearly new clothes and household items. We can only take items that are well presented (ironed!) and ready for sale (sorry we can't take any electrical items). For clothing it would be a great help if you could put a luggage label with the type of garment & size clearly written to minimize the need to touch things. There will be no trying on for obvious reasons!

Contributions to the Sale can be dropped off at the shop (in the Village Hall) on Monday 21st June, Wednesday 23rd, and Friday 25th (the week before the sale - usual opening hours 9 - 11.30).

For those who can't make that someone will be at the Hall from 4 - 6 pm on Wednesday 23rd June.

(For details about cakes & plants see the Hall section)

Please put your NAME and PHONE NUMBER on your bag of items just in case there are things that we cannot accept.

The following week any unsold items will be taken to the charity shop.

See you there, hopefully outside in the sunshine!

Maiden Bradley in the Early 19th c.

Extracts from 'Outlines of a plan for educating ten thousand poor children' by Joseph Lancaster.

Maiden Bradley is a village belonging, as well as the lands contiguous, to the Duke of Somerset.

The bulk of the inhabitants are very poor and extremely ignorant; and few have constant employment. There is an officiating but no resident clergyman.

The allowance from the parish to persons in distress or out of employ is scanty. In no case is it more than two shillings a week, for each person in family, including their own earnings. If they can earn two shillings they have no allowance. The situation of solitary individuals is, indeed, deplorable: the slender pittance often tempts the well meaning affectionate parent, to steal; and the question is soon decided when it is steal or starve. Thus, what is at first a violation of principle from the iron hand of necessity becomes a pernicious habit.

The author is assured of one fact: - a poor pious woman (for there are a pious few even in Bradley) when, in the last stages of an afflictive illness, looked around the room, for something to eat, and seeing nothing but some rotten wood thought she could eat that. She is now gone to her eternal home.

The poor are not only miserable for food, living like the Irish, much on potatoes but stealing almost as many as they grow.

There is a silk house in which some of the girls are employed they work all day and many of them walk the streets in the evening: they were once much worse than at present, a stranger could scarce enter the town without molestation from them.

Many persons of mature age in Bradley appear dreadfully corrupt; and the rising generation is nursed in the lap of contamination.

A Place in History

The history of the training teachers in England is considered to start with the Lancaster and Bell monitorial method and that method was pioneered by Joseph Lancaster here in Maiden Bradley. Joseph Lancaster had earlier established a school in Southwark that used older pupils to pass on their knowledge to the younger ones and the plan for Bradley was to draw on this experience.

The scheme was funded by donations from the gentry and the Duke of Somerset let some waste land near where the chapel now stands for the building of a school. The boys were to cultivate the land during the day and spend three hours every evening in school. The stone cleared from the land was sold for road building the boys themselves receiving half the money raised. Rye was grown and the girls of the village made hats with the straw. It was anticipated that later the children would learn other trades such as shoe making, basket making and tailoring.

Lancaster's proud boast was that by using his methods children might be educated for as little as 'four shillings per annum per head. Education began with 'religion as of the first importance' but the teaching was not sectarian and the children were expected to attend their own place of worship on a Sunday. The rest of the curriculum was limited to 'reading, writing and the first four rules of arithmetic.'

Any child who could read was considered capable of teaching others and small gifts of medals and toys were used as an incentive. Although Lancaster was opposed to corporal punishment the discipline in the school was harsh.

The school at Bradley lasted for little more than two years; its failure was mainly due to Lancaster's financial mismanagement.

Behind the Hedge

The Secrets of Corsley House now revealed

Corsley House, near Longleat, started life as a picturesque farmhouse in the early 18th century, resembling a fairy tale castle with its leaded windows and stone turrets. In 1812 the prosperous Barton family hired the renowned Bath Architect John Pinch the elder to add a substantial Greek revival addition lending the house a unique character with one entrance feeling much older than the other.

Most of the outbuildings at Corsley House have been unaltered including a lovely apple store with its original interior and a listed grain store built on staddle stones. The real gem of the garden is the Walled Garden with its spectacular view of Cley Hill. The garden, which has been returned to its former glory, would have kept the family and staff substantially self-sufficient all year long. A new addition to the grounds is the wave lawn which undulates along the Georgian side of the house.

For the first time in decades Corsley House is opening its gardens to the public. Come and step back in Time on Sunday 18th July, a chance to see the vernacular Kitchen Garden outbuildings and to imagine how it once was. Guided tours of the gardens, Frome's Rye Bakery's Woodfired Pizzas, a Pimm's Bar, Tea and Coffee, Children's entertainment and much more.

Wiltshire Council Planning

Application Ref 20/10822/FUL - Full Planning Permission

Address: Former Sydenhams Yard, Bradley Lane, Maiden Bradley, BA12 7JR

Proposal: Demolition of certain existing buildings, conversion of former office building to form 2 dwellings, and construction of 8 new dwellings, with associated highways, drainage, utilities, public open space and green infrastructure

Applicant Name: Charleston Homes Case Officer: Richard Hughes

Decision Date: 13-05-2021 Decision: Withdrawn

Council noted that the Clerk sought an update from the Developer. Council noted the below reply from Roach Planning

We withdrew that application last Thursday. As you know, the red line site boundary for that planning application comprised only the part of the site currently owned by Sydenhams' holding company, Sherborne Holdings Limited, but for which Charleston Homes has an option. The balance of the site, outside the red line, is currently owned by another party, and under that planning application the assumption was that that other party's land would be retained for employment purposes. Charleston Homes has now been able to agree an option to acquire the balance of the site from the other party. Accordingly, Charleston Homes intends to submit a new planning application for development of the whole site, although still with just 10 new homes, which explains why we withdrew application 20/10822/FUL. The new proposals would continue to have the main access from Bradley Lane, would still include the pedestrian link to/from Church Street, and would still propose 8 new build homes and 2 homes in the converted former office building. This is essentially the draft alternative scheme you saw and commented on a few weeks ago. Our view is that development of the whole site for 10 new homes in such a manner would be preferable to development of 10 homes on part of the site alongside retained employment land as per the application 20/10822/FUL, although of course it will be for the LPA to determine the new application on its own merits, taking consultee comments into account.

The Parish Steward had arranged for the road sweeper to clear all along Church Street. In June, weed spraying will take place on all the pavements, High Street and Church Street signposts will be repaired and it is hoped that down by the vicarage the leaves in the traffic calming will be dealt with as the Sparkle Team had left the traffic calming area.

It was agreed that a note of thanks be sent to Wiltshire Council for the work actioned and that a request in future for the loan of traffic lights to be able to action the painting of the Church Street railings. The Clerk was instructed to research the cost of hiring traffic and any insurance implications.

Action Plan Reviewed/Parish Plan

Action Plan Reviewed/Parish Plan - Councillor Alexandra De Renzy Channer addressed Council on the actions already taken ready for the Best Kept Village competition. It was noted that judging can happen any day from Monday 17th May to the 23rd of May. It was noted that they may have already been as strangers were seen walking around the parish with a clipboard.

Parish Plan Interpretation Board - Approved retrospectively the deposit paid of £624.00 in respect to the wooden frame. Councillor Alexandra Channer updated Council on the village interpretation board project to date. Council viewed the first draft of design and provided the following feedback, Yarnfield should be included, along with the Medieval village, the trig point on long knoll and the World War lookout station. Illustrate and re shade parts of the draft village map and that the top right hand corner would have text. The Font type was discussed but not agreed. Councillor Alexandra Channer will bring the second draft to the next meeting. COMMUNITY SPEED WATCH NEWS
Police Community Volunteers working on behalf of the Wiltshire Police and Maiden Bradley

Welcome to Community Speed Watch News, May Issue, compiled and produced by the Maiden Bradley Community Speed Watch Volunteers to keep the village aware of our activities.

Our teams have been very active as usual this month with 12 sessions to date with 1676 vehicles counted and 48 vehicles logged for speeding. This 3% of vehicles logged overall. However within the problem area Frome Road (B3092) it's a different picture with 498 vehicles counted 36 vehicles logged for speeding at an average of 37mph. So from the 7th June CSW activity will be doubled in this area. Weather permitting!!!!

From Monday the 18th May our operations will change as up until now we have had the luxury of having the recording device to ourselves. That has now changed and we now have to share with the Deverills CSW team on a week on week off basis. They are a new team very willing to get going and work with us to reduce speeding in our area as a common cause. We very much look forward to working together.

It is interesting to note that the knowledge that CSW teams are active in the village has had a calming effect in most areas, although as said, not on one particular position. Church Street in particular, we have had several sessions without a vehicle to record. So all the effort put in by Maiden Bradley CSW is well worthwhile.

The Speed Indicator Device also has a very calming effect on approaching vehicles. Although oddly enough we came in for abuse the other day when taking SID down to recharge it. No pleasing some folk I guess. I am not convinced it's our good looks that had that effect.

As always looking for volunteers, so if you wish to join the Maiden Bradley CSW teams, please do contact me.

If you see an incident that should be reported. Make sure you get the registration number. Call 999 if the driver is still on scene, or if the incident has passed call 101. Do not engage with said driver, ensure you take the registration No.

Thank you for all your support in the CSW activities and for your support in the future.
